

Global Production and Trade in East Asia

By Cheng, Leonard K. / Kierzkowski, Henryk

Book Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: Springer, Berlin | Global Production and Trade in East Asia focuses on the profound change that the traditional paradigm of production and international trade has undergone in the last two decades or so as a result of worldwide trade and investment liberalization. This ongoing transformation has been both aided and stimulated by advances in telecommunications, transportation, and information management. The liberalization of trade and investment on the one hand and advances in communications technology on the other have further promoted global production networks in which vertical stages of final goods are fragmented across countries. International fragmentation of production, which enables international division of labor not only in final products but also in vertically related components, is more evident than ever before. The book documents the process of international production fragmentation and trade in East Asian economies, studies the mechanics of the process, explores the theory behind the phenomenon, and identifies important policy implications. It focuses on production fragmentation and trade in East Asia because this is the part of the world where the phenomenon is most visible. With contribution by well-known international economics scholars from North America, Europe, and the Asia-Pacific, the book distinguishes itself with high...

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE
[2.83 MB]

Reviews

This written book is excellent. It really is rally fascinating through studying period. You are going to like the way the writer write this publication.

-- Hadley Ullrich

This sort of publication is every thing and helped me seeking ahead of time plus more. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. I found out this pdf from my dad and i recommended this pdf to learn.

-- Alex Jenkins